VitalSmarts Training Spring Quarter Morning Sessions

UC Davis Health is pleased to offer these four trainings from the VitalSmarts series for our faculty instructors. These trainings are recommended for any faculty looking to bring improved communication skills to their roles as researchers, clinicians, and teachers. Each training is offered as part of a series and the first two trainings should be taken in order. The “Influencer: and “Getting Things Done” trainings can be taken in any order or taken later.

From VitalSmarts:

“Our focus on performance has led us to identify high-leverage skill sets demonstrated by the best of the best. When work is routine, top performers behave like everyone else. But as soon as stakes are high, projects turn crucial, and results are on the line, top performers behave differently. They’re masters of dialogue, accountability, influence, productivity, and effectiveness. These are the skills we teach in our award-winning training courses.”

For questions regarding registration or the training please contact Alissa Edison at: hs-ucdhsfacultydevelopment@ucdavis.edu

Please Note

All sessions will be hosted via Zoom
